

Khrushchev Makes Debut On American Television

Predicts Wide Spread Of Socialism

NEW YORK, June 2 (AP)—Nikita S. Khrushchev, reigning boss of world communism, made his debut on United States television today. He predicted the grandchildren of his millions of American viewers "will live under socialism," but said the Soviet Union does not want to impose its type of socialism on anybody.

Khrushchev replied readily to a panel's questions on Soviet internal and external policies, but he added nothing new to the world's knowledge of Soviet aims. Almost everything he said was a repetition of what he or other Soviet leaders had said on previous occasions.

It was the Soviet Communist leader's first appearance on any formal television program and he came through it like a seasoned trouper. He appeared on the CBS "Face the Nation" program, which was filmed in his office in the Kremlin Tuesday.

Question

Khrushchev made his prediction about a Socialist America in response to a question concerning competition of ideas.

"We do want to compete with you, and in that competition we want to have the most healthy forces come into the forefront, and we believe that our socialist system represents the most healthy elements, because it is a younger system, the most healthy system," Khrushchev said. "And if you are acquainted with history and know how one social system was changed and another system took its place, you will know that the old capitalist system in our country has been replaced by the socialist system, and I can prophesy that your grandchildren in America will live under socialism."

"And please do not be afraid of that. Your grandchildren will not understand how their grandparents did not understand the progressive nature of a socialist society."

Khrushchev evidently decided against making the filmed interview a platform for any verbal bombast. All the points he made repeated previous Soviet positions. Among the points:

Disarmament: The Russians are "quite prepared to limit ourselves to some small step, instead of going after a comprehensive agreement at once, so that a small step might lead to something bigger." But the U.S.S.R. already had made this position plain in the disarmament talks in London. It reversed a previous position.

Troop withdrawals: The Russians are willing to withdraw their troops from East Germany, Poland, Hungary and Romania if the West will withdraw foreign troops from their present bases. This, said Khrushchev, would be a "useful first step to test the good will of the two sides and to establish a good atmosphere which would not smell of war, but which would lead to good, friendly relations that could be brought about between our two countries." He denied he feared the satellite countries in the absence of Soviet troops.

"Let's have a test," Khrushchev said. "Why don't you withdraw your troops from Germany and France, and we will withdraw ours from — East Germany, Poland and Hungary, and you will see that the Kadar regime, which is the people's regime in Hungary, will flourish for ages to come."

Reference

He referred to the regime of after Soviet guns put down the Hungarian revolution last fall.

War prospects: Khrushchev denied that a belief the United States is definitely planning war on the Soviet Union underlies all Soviet policies.

"That is not my view," Khrushchev said. "I simply repeated what your political leaders have been saying, and your generals, especially your admirals."

He denied, too, that a new world war would destroy communism as well as capitalism. He said communism would survive a new war, "but that is a very high price and it would be a tremendous calamity for both capitalist and socialist countries, and therefore we have to live on one planet."

Competing economies: Khrushchev said the Soviet Union would catch up with the United States in 1958 in the per capita production of milk and butter, and in 1960 or 1961 in the per capita production of meat. He denounced Soviet and foreign economists who insist this cannot be done until 1975. Khrushchev made a similar prediction in a recent speech.

Peaceful coexistence: Normalization of relations between the United States and the Soviet Union, Khrushchev said, should begin with the removal of trade restrictions. Then, he said, there should be exchanges of cultural and business delegations.

A PONY'S POIGNANT PROBLEM—The pony's name is "Trixie". She is two weeks old. "Trixie" was born on May 18. A problem arose on the farm owned by Mr. and Mrs. Loren Fenner when the pony's mother "wouldn't own her" and refused to let the baby pony feed. Seven-year-old David Fenner arrived at his own solution: He adopted the pony as his own. Since then David has hurried home from school between 3 and 3:30 p. m. each day to feed the pony. On days when there is no school, "Trixie" gets fed around noon. "Trixie" bids fair to become one of Monroe County's most beautiful bottle babies. (Staff Photo by MacLeod)

State Officials Move To Obtain Additional Room In 14 State Teachers Colleges

HARRISBURG, June 2 (AP)—State officials moved today to obtain more room for Pennsylvania high school graduates in the commonwealth's 14 over crowded state teachers colleges.

Dr. Charles H. Boehm, superintendent of public instruction, asked the presidents of the state teachers colleges to refuse admission this fall to any non resident.

"The time is unfortunately upon us when we must choose between necessity and hospitality," Dr. Boehm said in announcing his request.

His request is purely advisory since the 14 state teachers' colleges, although supported chiefly by state funds, are run independently by boards of trustees.

The Public Instruction Department additional 250 Pennsylvania high school graduates would be able to enter freshmen classes this fall at the 14 institutions.

Japan Expected To Follow Britain's Lead

WASHINGTON, June 2 (AP)—Sens. Sparkman (D - Ala) and Cooper (R - Ky) predicted today Japan soon will follow Britain's lead in broadening commercial trade with Communist China.

The two senators agreed in a joint interview, however, that the United States should continue its total embargo against any shipments to the Chinese Reds.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the Democratic leader, has called for a "new look" at U.S. policies in the light of Britain's decision to trade with the Communist Chinese on the same basis as with Russia and the satellite countries. He said this will be "one of the most pressing foreign problems in the months ahead."

Sparkman, a member of the Foreign Relations Committee, said he thinks the United States should recognize that Japan needs trade with the mainland to bolster the economy this country now is helping maintain.

Request
The department request would not affect non-residents already attending the schools.

Dr. Boehm said the request was based upon the fact that each of the teachers colleges receives about 700 applications for admission from qualified graduates of Pennsylvania high schools. The average freshman class will be about 450, he added.

"Considering the growing number of our young people who want to go to college—especially to become teachers—it seems only fair to offer them the first opportunity to attend our state-supported institutions."

Out-of-state students at the schools pay about $288 tuition depending upon the courses taken.

New Storms Hit Texas

Several Bridges Collapse Into Swollen Rivers

By The Associated Press

ROARING southwestern streams and rivers, fed by new heavy rainfalls, swallowed bridges, caused the collapse of another and swept two Air Force enlisted men into a swirling flood yesterday.

Elsewhere across the nation it was unseasonably cool from the Northern Plains into the Northeast, and the Far Southwest baked under a full-fledged heat wave.

Tornadoes, so far striking harmlessly in open country, belted Texas again Sunday in the state's 46th day of destructive weather. Since April 18, Texas floods and tornadoes have caused more than 60 deaths and an estimated 100 million dollars damage.

Prairie Land

A twister skipped across prairie land near Pottsville, Tex., but caused no property damage or injuries. Other tornadoes darted out of heavy thunderclouds in the north Texas area around Pottsville, accompanied by torrential rains.

Several well-traveled bridges, including at least two railroad bridges, have fallen as a result of the more than six weeks of pounding from powerful floodwaters.

Five spans of a bridge carrying Texas Highway 283 across the Pease River near Quanah fell into turbulent waters. A Santa Fe railway bridge, weakened by month-long floods on the Washita River near Sulphur, Okla., collapsed under a freight train. Between 17 and 20 railroad cars tumbled into the water but no one was injured.

Nineteen spans of the Quanah, Acme and Pacific Railroad bridge across the Red River near Quanah have been washed out.

Two Air Force men were swept away in rampaging Salado Creek in south Texas near San Antonio.

Cooler air and clearing skies were on tap for New England and north Atlantic states with some frost likely in high mountain valleys of New York State.

Red China Praises Move

HONG KONG, June 2 (AP)—Red China today played up Britain's decision to ease the China trade embargo as a blow at the United States "policy of aggression."

Radio Peiping broadcast comment of the official Communist People's Daily and other state-controlled newspapers applauding the British move last Thursday.

This step, taken over American objections, scrapped many of the curbs which the Western Powers had maintained on commerce with Mao Tse-tung's people since the United Nations decided in 1951 that Red China was the aggressor in Korea.

"The Washington bosses were already fearing a chain reaction among other countries which would follow suit and no longer trail behind the United States," the People's Daily said.

State Fair Employment Practice Commission 'Adjusts' 31 Complaints of Discrimination

HARRISBURG, June 2 (AP)—The State Fair Employment Practice Commission found and "adjusted" 31 cases of discrimination among 144 complaints filed during its first official year of operation.

The first annual report of the commission created by the 1955 Legislature showed that during the year ending March 1 "the commission did not find it necessary in any case to proceed beyond the conciliation stage."

Not a single formal hearing was held or scheduled during the year. The 1955 FEPC law prohibits employers from refusing work or firing anyone because of his race, religion, national origin or age. "The commission feels that widespread public approval of its work will depend, to a large extent, on its ability to demonstrate that the rights of employers, as well as workers, are fully protected by the law," states the report sent to Gov. Leader and the Legislature.

Jurisdiction
The 9-member body found that it had jurisdiction over 38,000 Pennsylvania employers (each with 12 or more workers) with a total working force of over 3 million. In addition, 6,000 school and governmental units are also covered.

In its summary of disposition of cases the commission said that 25 of the 144, or 34 per cent, were closed on the basis that no discrimination was found or that the charge was unproven.

Eleven more cases were closed because of lack of jurisdiction and another seven because the persons filing the complaint failed to proceed in the specified manner.

Another 35 cases were awaiting commission action on March 1 while 41 more were still under investigation. Six of the complaints were based on both religion and national origin.

Giant Balloon Soars 18 Miles

SOUTH ST. PAUL, Minn., June 2 (AP)—A giant plastic balloon carrying a young Air Force officer in a tiny metal capsule soared 96,000 feet over southern Minnesota today, setting a new altitude record for manned lighter-than-air flight.

Capt. J. W. Kittinger Jr., 28, remained at the more than 18-mile height for about two hours before he was directed to "valve off" the helium in the balloon and return to earth.

Good Condition

The huge bag and its suspended capsule came to rest six hours and 34 minutes after the 6:25 a.m. takeoff, landing in a small creek near Weaver, Minn., about 80 miles southeast of here.

Kittinger was reported in good condition and Maj. J. W. McCurdy, information officer for the Man-High project, said delicate equipment was salvageable.

The red-haired test pilot was taken to the Minneapolis Veterans Administration Hospital for exhaustive tests of a physical and psychological nature.

The flight was carried out as part of a series of tests of man's ability to endure at high altitudes. Another Air Force officer, Maj. David G. Simons, a native of Lancaster, Pa., is scheduled to make a 24-hour endurance test at altitudes over 100,000 feet later this month.

Atomic Energy Commission Detonates 'Baby' Bomb At Test Location In Nevada

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev., June 2 (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission detonated a "baby" nuclear device from a 300-foot tower on Yucca Flat at 4:55 a.m. today. The fireball was of short duration and did not touch the ground.

The blast caused formation of a relatively nonspectacular puffball of a cloud.

Observers speculated the shot, one of the smallest of the 47 touched off here, had a yield of between two and five kilotons. A kiloton is the equivalent of 1,000 tons of TNT.

The cloud rose to less than 20,000 feet, then moved off west of due north at a very slow rate of speed. The typical mushroom shape held only for an instant before it became a fluffy, shapeless mass.

Spokesman
A spokesman for the test organization estimated there was little debris in the cloud although the test tower, as usual, disintegrated, except for stubby remnants of the legs. He added: "There should be only minor fall-out at any point outside the test site."

A couple of sharp cracks were heard at the control point, about eight miles away and rumbles and bangs were heard at Inyokern and Bishop in California. The test was seen but not heard in Las Vegas, Nev., some 80 miles northwest of here.

At least 20 military and civil effects experiments were held in conjunction with the shot—second in the 1957 series. A blimp from the Lakehurst, N.J., Naval Air Station was moored at a regular mooring mast an undisclosed distance from the tower.

The shock wave jerked it loose from the main nose mooring but otherwise there was no apparent visible damage. The craft was not manned. Flares were set off so cameras could record the effects on the blimp.

Twenty-one support and crew indoctrination planes hovered in the air several miles away and approximately 250 armed forces observers were stationed at an area eight miles from ground zero.

Several of the support craft, with pilots and crews aboard, flew through the blast cloud.

Graham Speaks To 17,000
NEW YORK, June 2 (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham told an audience of 17,000 in Madison Square Garden tonight "I do not look for permanent world peace until the Prince of Peace has come."

He said a "lot of us would like to know the date so the night before we could get ready."

Cyclists Keep Gold Rush Days Alive

ANGELS CAMP, Calif., June 2 (AP)—Daredevil elements among 3,700 touring motorcyclists brought the wild days of the gold rush back to this now sleepy mother lode town of 1,250 last night. They roared at breakneck speed along Main Street and littered the curbs with beer cans and bottles.

A hastily summoned posse, fearful of riotous disorders, arrested 23 cyclists and restored quiet among the speedsters whose "gypsy tour" already has cost three lives and sent 23 spilled riders to Mark Twain Hospital at San Andreas. One of the cyclists, Jerome Tovaes, 20, of Santa Clara, died this morning.

This Sierra foothills town, 120 miles east of San Francisco, has not had so much turmoil since the days when prospectors mined fortunes and bet nuggets on such events as frog jumping—a local event which Mark Twain immortalized in his story, "The Celebrated Jumping Frog of Calaveras County."

Tribute
Angels Camp, which revives the jumping frog race every year in tribute to Twain's pen, escaped damage—in contrast with the cycling riot 10 years ago at Hollister, Calif., where the riders got out of hand.

Dejected and blaming outlaw elements, many of the visiting American Motorcycle Assn. riders left town today without taking part in planned races at nearby Frogtown Fairgrounds. California highway patrolmen agreed with the association that some so-called "Hell's Angels" and other outlaw groups were the root of last night's trouble.

"Some of these fellows started using the main street for a drag race," said officer Joe Spinelli of Angels Camp's tiny police force—two regular officers and six reserves.

"That's when we called for help." The highway patrol rushed in 20 men. Sixteen policemen came from Stockton. The Calaveras County sheriff's office dispatched deputies.

The 23 cyclists jailed were booked on a variety of charges ranging from being drunk to defying an officer.

"The county jail is full," Spinelli said.

"There is no damage to the town. There isn't a broken piece of glass, no buildings bent. We have a roadblock at each end of town. We figure by doing that we can slow them down enough that we're not going to have any trouble."

PITTSBURGH, June 2 (AP)—A light plane carrying a family of five made a safe forced landing today in a field near the Allegheny County Airport.

Official Count Regarded As 'Normal'

By The Associated Press

HUNDREDS of Americans died on the highways during the four-day Memorial Day weekend—but it was substantially the same number as are killed in a comparable non holiday period.

As the four-day period drew to a close, and huge numbers of Americans hit the road to return home, the toll of dead slowly mounted.

But it appeared the total would not rise much—if any—above the "normal" 405—the number the National Safety Council says can be expected to die in such a four-day period in the summer when there is no holiday involved.

At 10 p.m. yesterday the toll stood at 369—with the night still young in western sections of the nation.

Drownings

At that hour, 127 persons had drowned during the period, and 97 had died in other holiday-connected accidents.

The council made no estimate of traffic deaths for the long weekend, because many stores and offices reopened on Friday after the Thursday holiday.

During the last four-day Memorial Day weekend in 1950 there were 347 traffic fatalities. However, there are more cars on the road today than there were seven years ago.

The council's prediction of 120 highway deaths for the Memorial Day period alone—6 p.m. Wednesday to midnight Thursday—was 26 above the actual number of fatalities.

One person every three hours had accidental death in Pennsylvania over the four-day Memorial Day weekend, 19 of them in traffic accidents.

Four persons drowned and 10 others died in miscellaneous mishaps during the holiday, running the total to 35. Reckoning of the deaths began at 6 a.m. Daylight Saving Time Wednesday and continued through midnight last night.

A small-plane crash Sunday in Allegheny Twp., Somerset County, killed a family of four reported returning to New Castle, Pa., from a trip to Martinsburg, W. Va. Killed were Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Long and their sons, Jeffery, 4, and Bobby, 2, of New Castle, Pa.

Highway

A highway crash near McKeesport, Pa., the evening of Memorial Day spelled death for three teenage girls. Two of the victims died in the wreck, and another Mary Louise Maksin, 19, Clairton, died Sunday night in McKeesport Hospital. The accident was on Route 837, between Clairton and West Elizabeth.

Senate May Restore Cuts

WASHINGTON, June 2 (AP)—Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California said today he expects the Senate to restore some of the 2½ billion dollars slashed from defense funds by the House.

But Democratic Leader Johnson of Texas said in a separate interview that, "What the Senate does will depend on the evidence brought before it."

Note

Johnson noted that President Eisenhower "cut 10 billion dollars off the services' requests and the House cut 2½ billions off the President's requests."

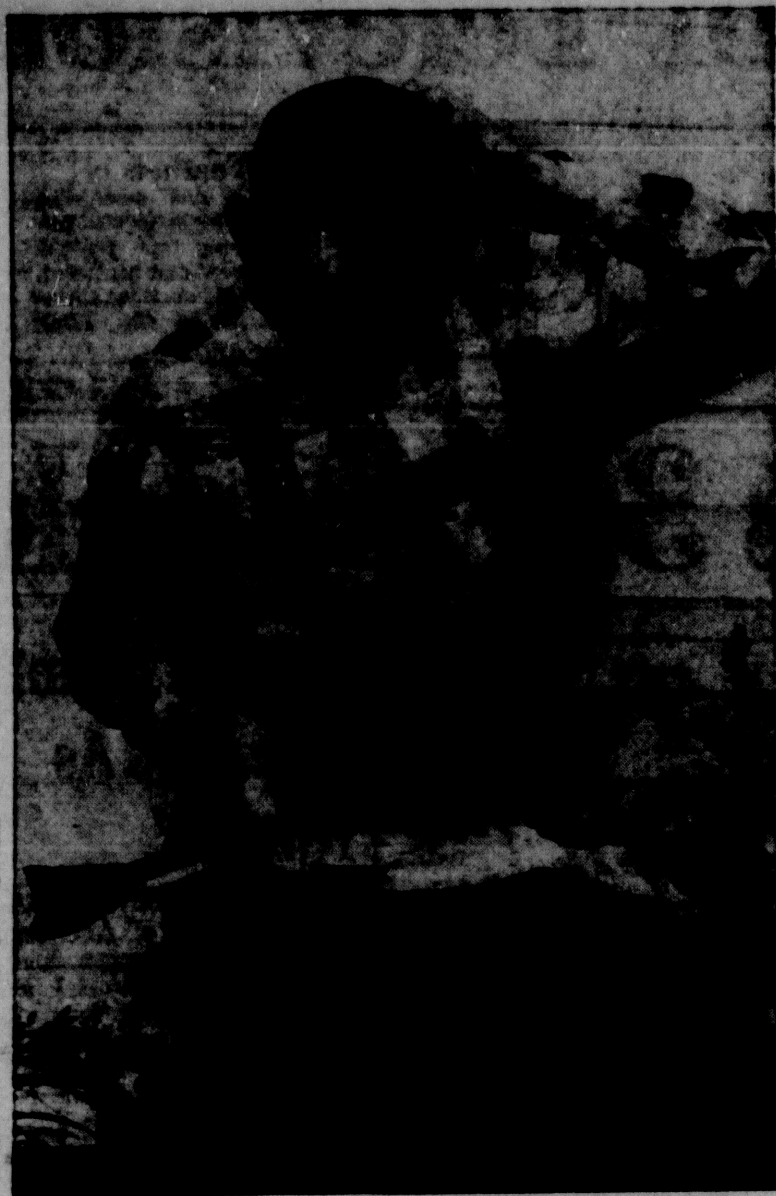

Public hearings on the Defense Department's money bill for the fiscal year starting July 1 will be resumed Tuesday before a Senate Appropriations subcommittee headed by Sen. Chavez (D-NM), listed as witnesses.

Chavez has predicted that the Senate group will restore any House reductions that "jeopardize the national security."

Scientists List Heat From Bomb

CHRISTMAS ISLAND, June 2 (AP)—Britain's chief scientist for nuclear tests said today Britain's H-bomb blast high over the Pacific Friday generated 10 million degrees centigrade heat and set an island afire.

The figure is nearly 2,000 times the average heat of the sun's surface. In Fahrenheit figures, the bomb flash was rated at 16,666,666 degree compared with the 10,000-degree Fahrenheit figure for the sun's surface.

Tax Reduction Changes Some Prices Of Gasoline In Area

Others To Be Reduced In Future

By Bill Berry

SIX service stations in the vicinity have already lowered their prices on gasoline. A Daily Record survey revealed yesterday. A seventh has promised to have complied by this morning.

The survey, run pursuant to the recent one-cent-per-gallon reduction in the state gasoline tax, chose 15 service stations at random along the Main Street-North Courtland St. route in Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg. Three of the owners were unavailable for comment.

Of the remaining five stations, three indicated that they were undecided as to whether to extend the price cut to their customers while the other pair expected to reduce their cost within the week.

Long Time

The cut, the first reduction in the state excise since 1930, and in the overall tax since 1934, was announced Friday in Harrisburg. Although the extra cent, added in 1955 wasn't due to expire until Sept. 13, the legislature felt that enough revenue had been collected to cover the disaster costs of the 1955 flood. However, there was no directive to the operators of the service stations to lower their price.

Assured by Charles Gordon, owner of Gordon's Esso Station, 231 Park Ave., Stroudsburg, that it was completely up to the owners of each service station whether or not to reduce the prices, the Record ran this survey.

Six of the operators who complied with the reduction immediately were the three Gulf Stations located on Main St. at Seventh, Fifth, and Third Sts.; the two Sunoco stations on Main at William and Rhodes, respectively; and Wilson's City Service, 190 Main St. Lester Elber, owner of a Gulf Station, in discussing the reason for his waiting until this morning to reduce his prices, commented, "I had to pay the tax when I bought the gasoline."

The two Atlantic Stations, located at Main and North Ninth and North Courtland at Ansoniok, echoed Elber's sentiments. Said Johnny Cruse, owner of the former, "When I buy gas at that price, then I'll drop it." Both are expected to lower their price when their next shipment of gasoline, accompanied by the tax-reduction, comes through within the week.

Full Count

Horace McConnell, owner of the Mobilgas Station at 1019 West Main St., commented more fully. "I paid the full price on 3,000 gallons of gasoline. Is there any reason for me to throw $30 down the drain?"

When asked about the reduction to his customers, McConnell said, "I guess we'll all probably lower them eventually. The higher-priced gasolines can afford to cut theirs more easily than we can. I sell mine at 29¢ as it is."

"I sell my gas one-cent cheaper than anyone else as it is," said Henry Boltz, proprietor of the Mobilgas Station located at 116 N. Courtland St. He intimated that he would, however, drop his prices if others began to sell at the same price as he.

The spokesman for the Robert Brothers Esso Service Station, 365 N. Courtland St., who declined to identify himself, said, "I don't know when and if I'll drop it. I paid the tax on what I have now."

Large Crowd At Mass By Father DeLuca

A CONGREGATION which filled St. Matthew's R. C. Church beyond capacity and left "standing room only" attended a Mass of Thanksgiving yesterday morning at 11.

The Holy Mass celebrated the 25th anniversary of the ordination of Rev. Silvio DeLuca of East Stroudsburg.

More than 500 persons from the parish, friends and relatives later attended a reception in the Parochial school auditorium. An invitation to all parishioners to attend the mass and reception had been issued by Rev. Harold G. Durkin, pastor of St. Matthew's and Fr. DeLuca.

Assisting in the mass were Msgr. Salvatore Florey of St. Lucy's Church in Scranton, who was the deacon; Rev. Leopold Snyder, of the Passionist Order in which Fr. DeLuca received his training and who was originally one of the men responsible for assisting him in his entry to the order and Fr. Durkin who served as the arch-priest.

Ministers Present Graduation Advice To Students At Baccalaureates In Boroughs

A STROUDSBURG minister last night begged graduating seniors not to fall into "moral disaster" in college by trading their faith in God for scientific "man-made theory."

Rev. Charles A. Park, rector of Christ Episcopal Church, gave the baccalaureate sermon at Stroudsburg High School. He told graduating seniors:

"... Some of you are going away to college. You will be presented with a vast amount of new knowledge. Unfortunately many times this knowledge is presented in a manner which makes it seem antagonistic to Christianity. Many colleges are anti-Christian to a marked degree, at least unconsciously."

"Every man-made theory is noised abroad, while He Who is that Eternal Reason in Whom all things cohere, is ignored. Far too many students give up the faith because they have not sense enough to realize that a professor trained in the physical sciences or the liberal arts or medicine is not thereby also trained in theology."

"He may be, and often is, colloquially ignorant of what Christianity really is. And his infantile superstitions and his childish criticisms of Christianity may do your souls irreparable harm if you do not take the trouble while at college to find out from the chaplain what Christianity really is. Be careful, lest in gaining a little knowledge, you lose your soul, and in collecting alleged facts about the world you lose sight of Him who made the world."

The clergyman went on to warn his listeners of the "grave danger to your souls in material success." He said:

"Success is worshipped in this country, and success generally means making a lot of money. Many people fall into damnation because they put gold before God."

"Above all, your job on this earth is to serve God lovingly and freely. Insofar as you do that you are a true success, perhaps not from the world's viewpoint, but certainly from God's, and that is what matters."

"Don't worry whether you make a lot of money or become famous, for worldly success tends to feed our pride, thereby causing us to fall into mortal sin."

At baccalaureate service for East Stroudsburg High School students. The Rev. Harold S. Eaton set down five ways in which the voice of God speaking to individual men could call them to do their best.

"To some the voice of God is heard in nature," Rev. Eaton said. "To others, it is the music of the long parade of history. To still others it is the corporate voice of the church."

Continuing, he said:

"But tonight I wish to speak to you of that inner voice that insistently calls to the individual—a voice that you may hear in many ways. I wish to suggest that there are five things that I think God will say to every one of you."

"One—Be the best person you can. Two—Do the best of which you are capable. Three—Do it in the best manner and spirit. Four—Look for the best in others. Five—Make the best of what happens."

"God will call you along these lines, for He is the ultimate inspiration and the final criterion. Obey His call to be your best," he concluded.

Congressman Blasts Plan

WASHINGTON, June 2 (AP)—Rep. Kee (D-WV) said today a plan to bring natural gas from Canada into the United States markets should be blocked as harmful to the nation's coal miners.

In a speech prepared for delivery to the House, Mrs. Kee said "international fuel financiers" are trying to "flim flam American workers out of their means of livelihood."

The congresswoman said she referred to applications before the federal power commission to build a natural gas pipeline from Canada into Minnesota and the mid-west.

"It seems to me that there is too great a disparity between the financial and economic positions of our coal miners and the pipeline people to permit further enrichment of the latter at the expense of the former."

Baptist Church To Aid People Of Southwest

A SPECIAL offering was taken at the East Stroudsburg Baptist Church yesterday to aid disaster victims in the Southwest.

Rev. Norman R. Savage, pastor, said parishioners contributed to the cause at the Communion Sunday service as "a gesture on our part as people who received help in our time of need."

Mr. Savage said the church doesn't have any specific project in mind. However, he disclosed he has written to the Home Missionary Society of the Southern Baptist Convention in an attempt to learn of a church, pastor or community that could benefit from the special offering.

The East Stroudsburg Baptists sent a similar offering to the First Baptist Church of Yuba, Cal., when that area was hit by disaster around Christmas, 1955.

The local church received and administered $3,800 following the flood which hit the Poconos in August, 1955, Mr. Savage recalled.

Fire Causes Damage To Wall In Kitchen Of LaAnna Home

LA ANNA—A kitchen wall in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Barnes was badly damaged yesterday morning when fire broke out behind a combination gas-wood range.

The fire was discovered at about 11 a.m. by Mrs. Barnes when smoke began to pour into the kitchen. Her husband attempted to pry off asbestos insulation behind the stove, but found that flames had already broken out behind insulation sheets.

Alarm

An alarm was turned in to the Greene-Dreher Fire Co. A total of 25 men responded with three trucks, led by Charles Ehrhardt, fire chief and Stanley Peet, the assistant.

The Barnes' told firemen that the kitchen had been recently redecorated. The couple moved to LaAnna a little more than a year ago from Baltimore. They had returned Saturday night from a Memorial Day trip to Canada.

Government Could Save Billions Annually

Back in February, former President Hoover warned against the possibility of an inflation that would wake all of us up, including people high in government circles and leaders in industry and labor.

He said the 103 billion dollars a year Americans are paying to be governed at various levels is too much for the economy to bear without danger of overstrain.

Part of the blame he placed on the people themselves when he said he thinks Americans should wake up and "realize that they cannot have every social and public works improvement of their dreams all at once, especially in a world where we have to defend ourselves from a monstrous international danger." The chief trouble, however, lies with government officials and agencies that control the nation's purse strings.

The other day, the former President conferred with President Eisenhower about long-range savings which could be made in the federal budget. He argued that five billion dollars could be saved annually by the simple process of "eliminating outmoded methods" of government.

For one thing, he would require interest rates for government loan programs to cover the government's borrowing costs. He would also impose "user charges" to relieve the general public of having to subsidize governmental services afforded special groups.

In addition, he recommended that procedures be developed to speed the return of surplus federal land and other property to private, state and local use. Despite the economies which would result from these proposals, Congress has shown little interest in them.

Bills which could cut federal government costs at least two billion dollars are buried in committees while our legislators resist government reforms advocated by Mr. Hoover and mutually endorsed by Republican President Eisenhower and former Democratic President Truman.

Instead of bucking economy recommendations, it is high time for Congress to listen to advice which comes from as sound and experienced a national figure as Herbert Hoover.

Good Evening, Ladies!

First Year Of Marriage Dangerous—So Are Others

By Ken Duval
WE ON THE Mainland are likely to believe that people who live in Hawaii with its salubrious climate never have any troubles, but a delightful lady reader in that island Paradise informs me that she is terribly disturbed over what she has read about the dangers of marriage.

After reading her description of herself I would like to hurry over there and I would certainly do so if I had the fare and there was someone here to watch the store while I was away. She is young and blonde, she says, with a permanent suntan (there are no sunlamps on the islands) and she is engaged. But before she takes the leap she would like some advice from an old campaigner, as she calls me, on the subject of how to manage things during the dangerous years which, she has read in a book on the psychology of marriage, are inevitable.

Well, I would say that the first year of marriage is one of the dangerous ones, because it is a period of readjustment from single life, or coit period when one gallumphs around the meadow without a halter, to pulling in double harness with a mate. This is not easy for some people. The second year also is one of the dangerous ones because it too is a period of readjustment. It is then that all the ornery traits of each mate come to the fore. It also is the time when they learn that they signed too many chattel mortgages the year before and have too many little coupon books lying around the house. A husband needs tender and loving treatment around the first of each month.

Keeping Up With Joneses
Now comes the third year, and it is one to watch out for. It is the year when the can begins to miss on a couple of cylinders, its color fade and its upholstery to look like a bedspread in a cheap rooming house. About that time, the people next door buy a new one. The strain this can put on a marriage must be experienced to be understood.

I am assuming you are still married, my dear, and if you are, you now come to the fourth year, a period of strain and readjustment which certainly makes it one of the dangerous years. The kids can now reach the brace-a-brac, throw their father's pipe in the toilet bowl and demand drinks at 4 a. m. They need new shoes every three months. Their mother is howling that she never gets to go anywhere anymore. Their father is threatening to drown the whole lot and take a furnished room where he'll find a little peace.

The fifth to tenth years are likely to be sort of blah, but still a period of strain and readjustment. It is then that parents learn that teachers take an altogether different view of their kids than they do, especially at report card time. Their father becomes convinced that, if the kids are stupid, it comes from their mother's side of the house. The couple has been paying off a $10,000 mortgage for five years and discover that they still owe $9,998. These are dangerous years for a marriage.

The next dangerous period is from the tenth to the twentieth year. It is a period of readjustment and strain. The husband is likely to tell his wife that she is getting fat. She is likely to tell him he's getting gray and stodgy. She goes in for dieting and he tries, without success, to get some young chick to tell him she is as young as ever; and the first time she calls him Daddy he goes home to pout.

From the twentieth year on is the most dangerous period of all. It is then that a couple is likely to discover just how deeply they have been in love all the time and it can come as a shock. So, kiddo, all the years are dangerous ones, but anyone who runs away from them is missing the greatest experience life affords.

Robert S. Allen Reports

Government To Increase Securities Interest Rate

Washington, June 3—Another hike in interest rate on government securities is in the offing.

This time it may go up to 4 percent. That's what Treasury Under Secretary W. Randolph Burgess is indicating to congressional leaders. He is directly in charge of managing the $275 billion national debt, and is sounding them out on an awesome refinancing operation facing the Treasury in August and October.

In those two months the immense total of $23,943,000,000 in government securities will come due, as follows:

August—$12,056,000,000 in 2 percent notes.
$3,792,000,000 in 2 percent notes.
October—$7,271,000,000 in 3 1/2 percent certificates.
$824,000,000 in 1 1/2 percent notes.

Actually that isn't all. In September, another $6,195,000,000 in 2 1/2, 2 1/2, and 2 1/2 percent bonds, due in 1958 and 1959, become callable. But it's highly unlikely that will be done. Treasury officials are not taking on any more refinancing than they absolutely have to.

Cross-Fire—Two reasons are behind this strong reluctance: (1) More than $9 billion of the maturing notes and certificates are held by banks, corporations and individuals. Under prevailing "tight money" conditions, they are apt to talk at exchanging their securities for new ones unless "the pot is sweetened" considerably.

Burgess is explaining to congressional leaders that the 4 percent interest rate may be unavoidable. (2) He and other Administration fiscal authorities are under critical scrutiny by the powerful Senate Finance Committee, which is planning to start hearings in several weeks on a wide-ranging probe of their policies. These have long been under fire by leading Congressmen: notably Senators Robert Kerr (D., Okla.), Paul Douglas (D., Ill.), Russell Long (D., La.), and John Williams (R., Del.). They have repeatedly challenged Treasury refinancing operations involving increased interest rates.

That will be one of the major targets of these hearings. The Senators charge that steadily mounting interest costs are creating a "second federal debt."

Basis of this contention is the $1,068,000,000 rise in annual interest on the national debt. That now totals $7,448,000,000 a year as against $6,380,000,000 in 1952. Senators Kerr and Douglas have data claiming that at this rate of increase, interest charges on the national debt will soar another $4,400,000,000 a year by 1965. They envision an annual interest outlay on government securities of $12 billion.

That's why they are calling it the "second federal debt."

Particularly due to be grilled on this issue are Burgess, Treasury Secretary George Humphrey, and Federal Reserve Chairman William McChesney Martin, an adamant advocate of the present "tight money" policy.

Martin has clashed with these senators over this before, and the impending encounter is certain to be explosive.

It may also lead to legislative action. Several of these senators have announced bills up their sleeves. One is designed to impose certain restrictions on the Federal Reserve Board.

Putting Them On—The Navy now has two high-ranking officers who are leg amputees. They are Admiral John Hoskins, the new head of Declassification Policy for the Defense Department, and Admiral Parker, recently named director of the guided missile program. Both were fitted with artificial legs by the Navy's noted orthopedist, Captain Thomas Canty, at Oakland, Calif. Hoskins lost a foot during a kamakazi attack on the carrier "Princeton." Parker's leg was amputated because of a malignancy. . . . Since coming to Washington, Pakistan's Ambassador Mohammed Ali has developed a new hobby—a marine aquarium. For the many varieties of fish he has secured, he has a large white coral and blue quartz filled tank, artificially lighted and equipped with the latest filtration devices. Says the Ambassador, "The fish never fight, but they do chase one another playing tag." How he knows that, he doesn't say.

A recent article written by Leonard Randolph telling of the life and work of Dr. Nina Price has brought much publicity to the Pocono Mountains, as well as the East Stroudsburg physician. The article, as presented to the Associated Press by Randolph, has appeared in papers throughout the United States.

Dr. Price has been informed that the story has appeared on the front pages of papers in Waco, Texas and Chicago. It has also appeared in newspapers in South Dakota, Tacoma, Wash., and Syracuse, just to mention a few.

A long distance telephone call was received from Ithaca, Mich., the place of Dr. Price's birth. A series, also by Randolph, is currently being run in The Daily Record. One of the chapters will deal with the letters and interesting contents.

Change In Auto License Tag System Weighed

If it can be made foolproof against the theft of tabs, Gov. George M. Leader's plan for changing the method of issuing automobile license plates sounds like a good one.

He proposes to introduce five-year plates for Pennsylvania beginning in 1958 and to issue small aluminum tabs each year to show that the annual fee has been paid. The danger lies in the possibility that the tabs, which can easily be attached to the plates, can just as easily be stolen by thieves for their own use.

The five-year license plan, according to an estimate by the Governor, promises to save the Commonwealth $1,300,000 during that period — a factor that commends the proposal to all who pay fees and taxes to finance our highway program.

Magazine Wrong In Criticizing Americans For Too Many Opinions Regarding Russia

The press agents of McCall's Magazine make quite a to-do over the assumption Americans have strong opinions about Russia but are weak on their facts. They then rip open some pages of the magazine and want some free publicity which seems to be justified by the news of their data.

An important question asked is "What per cent (it should have been percentage in English) of the Russian people belong to the Communist Party?" It would appear that most Americans did not reply correctly from the standpoint of the editors of this magazine. What they wanted the people to say was "approximately 3 per cent." This is, of course, a nonsensical answer although it might be statistically correct. Statistics which often prove the obvious can also establish it as a fact that the obvious is idiotic.

To ask that question with sufficient accuracy in the wording to establish some meaning would be to use these phrases: "What percentage of the inhabitants of Soviet Russia accept the Marxist-Leninist doctrine as a control over their lives?" Nobody can answer that question, but it is the only one that matters. It would be as though one were to ask Americans whether they live by the tenets of Christianity without further definition.

The question asked by McCall's proves nothing even if 100 per cent of those replying gave 3 per cent as the answer. And for the following reasons:

1. The use of the term "Russian people" is incorrect. What is geographically termed Russia and often by such writers as myself inaccurately by habit as Soviet Russia is the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics (USSR) consisting of perhaps as many as 100 races and peoples, some, like the Daurians, being so vestigial as to be on the verge of disappearance; others such as the Uzbeks and Mongols being very aggressive and vivid and developing new cultures out of old traditions.

2. The Communist Party is a small, monopolistic group which dominates all peoples inside of geographic Russia and among the satellites and holds the people's power as a substitute for the dictatorship of the proletariat which the Marxists expected to establish but could not. The party is in no Western sense a political party at all, consisting principally of the top echelons of administration, men and women who are dependent for their jobs and benefits (which are enormous) upon those who are in the Politburo (now the Presidium) and who run the country under a dictator, the Secretary of the Party, who has been to Stalin and is now Khrushchev.

The question in McCall's and the summary of answers therefore make no sense. Now we come to another question: "About how long has Russia been a communist country?" Various answers are given to this question. The editors of the magazine answer it this way:

" . . . Actually, this year the Soviet Government celebrates its fortieth anniversary." This is, I assume, to give the impression that Russia has been a communist country for 40 years although it ducks the fundamental question neatly.

That answer is incorrect. What it means to say is that it is 40 years since the October Revolution placed Lenin and his associates in power. No one in authority in the Russian Government has ever claimed that Russia is a communist country.

They say that Russia is the first socialist country, that the means of production, distribution and exchange are owned by the government, that finance capital has been extirpated, although some small phases of private capital are tolerated, such as recognized black market operations. Communism involves not government-ownership but the people's control and actually under Communism, the government should begin to wither away and in the end disappear as an unnecessary institution along with religion, racial and national differences.

The California woman who was questioned by the McCall interviewers about Communism in Russia and answered "I don't know how many there are, but it's far too many," undoubtedly gave the correct answer to all the questions from the American standpoint.

Certainly the editors who criticized Americans for too many opinions and too few facts studied their facts like someone on one of the quiz programs who knows the answer in the book, but not what it means. Alas, that is so often true and it is also true that on occasion an opinion is worth more than an isolated fact. Vide Aristotle!

guesses. We were surprised to hear that they were the "sacral," "coccyx," "thoracic," "lumbal" and "cervical," although we could have looked the last two in the back and said, "The names are familiar but I don't recall the dialect."

The spine should be kept out of these quiz shows unless introduced by an old-time vaudeville star who used to give a lecture on it, using a long banana stalk. A line between a quiz show and a clinic should be clearly drawn. The customers have some right to know what the emcee, the contestants and trust company are talking about.

Employees say that Sherman Billingsley of the Sherk Club abuses them one moment and opens wine for them the next.

Jackpots and Your Faith
Physicians have declared that TV "pressure cooker" jackpot programs are highly dangerous to the health of contestants. Unless a contestant is young and in the pink, the strain on heart, nerves, mind and arteries can be disastrous, they say, one medico favoring a physical exam of every jackpot seeker before "ring time." This can be true, but we think the TV audience lives even more dangerously. (As a fan who follows the big jackpots closely, we are a physical wreck compared to the shape we were in before we started.)

The doctors say that the contestants invite heart trouble, ulcers, and nervous breakdown. But the audience can get all these on any one evening and develop jungle fever, muscular twitches, fallen arches and symptoms of snake bite in case of a tie.

For example, if the Hank Bloomgarden-Jim Snodgrass battle on "Twenty-One" isn't decided permanently very soon, sickness in the American living room can reach an all-time high with ulcers the predominant affliction. We thought it was all over when Hank was declared winner last time out, but the case has been reopened for another meeting. This is more than a lot of fans can take. (How about giving them, instead of the contestants, a physical first?)

The TV jackpot questions are getting too technical and too far over the audience's heads. Bloomgarden and Snodgrass (we hadn't run across that name since our days as a reader of Pickwick Papers) were asked to name the five groups of bones in the human spine. With few exceptions it was news to the TV audience that their spines had five groups. They would have settled for any two and welcomed wild

Caporosas And Tanzellas Renew Wedding Vows

While circumstances have changed and the principals have grown older, the two couples knelt before the altar of Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church, Roseto, yesterday morning and pledged continued devotion to their partner "till death do us part."

Mr. and Mrs. Luigi Caporaso and Mr. and Mrs. Domenic Tanzella were then honored at a family dinner and a reception from 3 to 6 p.m. at the Hotel Easton.

The couples sponsored each other fifty years ago at a double wedding on June 2, 1907. The Caporosas took up residence in Pen Argyl where Mr. Caporaso has operated a tailor shop for 55 years. They live at 23 Robinson Ave.

The Tanzellas resided in Pen Argyl for three years while Mr. Tanzella was associated with his wife's brother in the publication of the "La Stella Di Roseto," an Italian language newspaper. They then moved to Easton where Mr. Tanzella operates the Index Printing Co.

They have seven children. They are: Mrs. Margaret Limons, Bethlehem; Vincent, Pen Argyl, a compositor with the Easton Express; Louis, a linotype operator in Wilmington, Del.; Mrs. Laura Bingham, Toronto, Canada; Septenio, Easton, a linotype operator with The Easton Express; Arthur, Easton, a monotype operator with The Easton Express, and Sister Felicia, a teacher in Pius X Catholic High School, Roseto.

The Caporosas have 11 grandchildren while the Tanzellas have 13.

OIL FOR CREAKY JOINTS. Nothing makes a woman seem older—particularly, in summer's abbreviated attire—than stiff, creaky joints. Yet, they are not necessarily indicative of advancing years. More likely of inertia!

Just a little exercise would react on joints, like oil on hinges. Should you be in need of limbering, better get busy on these routines: 1. Leading with head, slowly curl spine until fingertips touch toes. Return to starting position by uncurling—inches by inch. 2. Back to wall and arms overhead, bend knees gradually and slide body down wall; slowly straighten knees and slide up wall to starting position. Work five minutes daily.

THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

Don't know why I should have been so surprised to see blonde-ringed Marion Wells toddling around our center aisle Friday, but I was. It seemed that, like Rip Van Winkle, I must have dozed off for a time, for the last time I saw her, the little lady was a babe in arms. I mentioned this to her mother, and she agreed. "Time goes entirely too fast," was her comment, and it's the truth. Pete Wyckoff tells me that his youngest, Daniel, is also at the toddling stage. Which makes me feel that I should be TOTTERING—how about you? . . . Seems funny to find that our newest Pennsylvania Dutch wares hales from—of all places—JAPAN. It's pretty too, and wondrously inexpensive. The background color is a very delicate pink, just the right shade for Betty Frantz's kitchen, or mine, and the traditional tulips, men and women, and such, are in blue, black, deep red, and other colors favored by our Dutch cousins. Betty Frantz fell in love with a tiny tea kettle, and I with a four-cup pot in which to make instant coffee. Each of these is priced at only 1.00. Then there are 3-pc. stove sets at 1.00; mustard and mayonnaise sets on wrought iron frames, for 1.00; vinegar and oil bottles, also 1.00, cookie jars, and other pieces similarly priced. It seems so much for such a little, makes you say, "It beats the Dutch what a buck will buy." . . . Mrs. Bob Miller who is donating her services to the rigorous task of making possible a Miss Pocono Mountains contest as forerunner to the Miss America finals in Atlantic City, selected Mrs. Robert Keith of the YMCA Auxiliary as her substitute on Friday morning's radio program. Mrs. Keith leaves soon for Baltimore after four years of being a Stroudsburgian, and will be greatly missed. In her remarks over the air, she emphasized the deadline of pageant entries as June 8th. The contest here is scheduled for Tuesday, June 18th, with the winner to go on to the state contest. All girls who have never been married and are between 18 (as of September 1st) and 28 years of age are invited to enter. There is no charge. Proceeds from the ticket sale go to the YMCA Auxiliary. . . . Everyone is afflicted with the Dip-doodle these days—not musically, perhaps, but calorie-wise. We refer to the taste-tempting habit of preparing all types of mixes to serve along with potato chips, Fritos, and the like, as a snack before or between meals. To make this type of serving easy, our gift department has stocked a "Dip Dish" which comes in white, trimmed with gold, and has a tiny bowl for the mixture attached in the center. Gold lettering gives the recipe for some wonderful treats: the confetti dip, the Roquefort and cottage cheese dip, the Pilsa dip and the Teaser dip. The price, 1.98. This is an idea for the girl who'll be living in a dormitory come fall, and entertaining her classmates at snack and gab fests. . . . Also in the interests of glamorous entertaining, our gift department is carrying hand-carved cocktail picks from Portugal, priced at 1.98 a hundred. Packaged in cellophane, they look like ivory, but aren't—they're just a very light wood. . . . Television lamps are commanding a sizeable display area right now in our gift department. The popular trend seems to be the lamp with the colorful outdoor scene reproduced on parchment. One shows Niagara Falls, and is priced at 4.95. Several others have a revolving construction, which gives movement to water, smoke, etc. Two of these are particularly colorful and pretty—one shows a flight of mallards, and is priced at 6.98. The other shows a sail boat buffeted by waves, and is priced at 5.00. Sailing, sailing over the TV set! . . . When Tommy Rinehart visited Williamsburg recently, he returned with a number of adorable pitchers, reproductions of those found in the ruins of the old city. These are gray, with a salt glaze and a design of rich blue flowers or leaves. Mr. Wyckoff apparently fell under their spell also, because he too purchased some which are now on sale in our gift department. There are miniature pitchers at 50c, crocks at 59 and 75c, large pitchers at 1.98, and mugs at 1.00. No denying, there's a certain glory about old things, particularly those connected with Old Glory.

YOU CAN take it from some of the world's greatest bowlers that the alleys at the Barrett Bowling Center are not the easiest to roll on.

Saturday night the Pabst Blue Ribbon squad, known the country over for its phenomenal bowling, took to the lanes at the Canadensis emporium to vie for some of the loot in the $40,000-plus Pocono Bowling Tournament.

Once in a while one of the stars came up with a good game, but for the most part, the team in general was far from its average. The likes of Joe Kistoff and Fred Plice, two of the better pin-toppers, had their troubles controlling their ball over the clock alleys. They are professionals and the way they curve 'em in, you can't play-for-pay on each hook. But, the big-timers on that given night were not better than the boys who came into the classic with less raves.

At Bangor the previous night only Glen Allison, the youthful member of Pabst, was able to hit the pins with any consistency. He racked up a 1288 score in six games to take over second place—for the time being—in the State Belt phase of the biggest cash pin event ever to hit the Poconos.

Getting back to the Barrett side of it, any novice on a "hot" night is capable of breaking into the prize money. However, so far only the Budweiser team of St. Louis has shown the way for the pros, while the door is still wide open in the handicap division for someone to come in and haul off a big share of the booty.

A Blairstown, N. J. man will be among the 150 entries in the Mennonite Thousand Islands International Outboard Marathon at Alexander Bay, N. Y., Sunday, June 9. He is Harold B. Hill Jr., a member of the Blue Mountain Club.

Top prize in the Motor boat classic is $5,000. The event is sponsored by five chamber of commerce along the route of the St. Lawrence Seaway in the Thousand Islands region. Five classes of utilities will compete.

Eddie Katalinis, an invader of this area on many occasions, was promoted by the Detroit Tigers to direct the Bengals scouts throughout the country.

Eddie, a former Shennandoah High football coach, was worked for Detroit in a scout's capacity for 17 years. He has combed this area for prospects and has spoke a few times at banquets in the vicinity.

His biggest prize grab of a ballplayer was Al Kaline, the Tigers sensational outfielder who was signed out of a Baltimore high school three seasons ago.

A Chicago newspaper credits Bubba Phillips as one of the reasons the White Sox are going so good in the American League. The tabloid says that Phillips' switch to third base has filled the hole so much that Minnie Minosa, oft-time used there, is kept in the outfield, his normal position.

While Phillips, a former player in the now defunct North Atlantic League, is not hitting a high average, he has come through with timely hits, knocking in more runs than was expected from him.

Les Carlton, the veteran Daily Record photographer, wishes Bill Veck, the former owner of the Cleveland Indians and St. Louis Browns, would get into the major league picture again.

Les feels that Veck's showmanship is lacking in majors. "What we need is more midgets and bands to live up to the drab sport," Carlton says. "It's getting so you can't even laugh any more at a game," the jensman contends.

"Back in the days of the daffy Dodgers and the dizzy Deans you could always expect the unexpected. Today Brooklyn is going straight and they have taken the gas out of the Gashouse Gang of St. Louis," he mused.

New Yorker Hits Hole-In-One

MARSHALLS CREEK—A New Yorker solved the eighth hole at the Mount Manor golf course yesterday as he scored an elusive hole-in-one.

Ed Kerler, 55, of Woodside, pitched the eagle with his five-iron on the 143-yard, par-three hole. He completed his round of nine with an impressive 31 total.

Teaming with Kerler were Joe Romanelli and Al Corker, both of the Bronx. Corker went around in 37 while Romanelli was two strokes behind.

Braves Edge Cards

MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 2 (U)—Ernie Johnson rescued Bob Buhl in the ninth inning today to preserve a 3-1 victory for the Milwaukee Braves over the St. Louis Cardinals before 24,500 at County Stadium.

Lake Harmony Sinks Strouds, 9-3; Ups Lead Saylorsburg, Tannersville, Reeders Win

LAKE HARMONY pulled two games out in front and the race centered around the fight for second place when action subsided in the Pocono Mountain Baseball League yesterday.

Lake Harmony routed the bid of the Strouds by rapping the Stroudsburg entry, 9-3; Tannersville blanked West End A. C., 9-0; Saylorsburg whitewashed Bushkill, 2-0; and Reeders tumbled Barrett, 12-5. The Kunkletown at Ananokim tilt was postponed.

The wins picked up by Saylorsburg and Tannersville enabled them to go into a three-way knot with the vanquished Strouds. West End, by losing, dropped a half game behind the trio.

7th Straight Win

LAKE HARMONY — Lake Harmony had little trouble posting its seventh straight victory here yesterday, as they shot away to a 9-0 lead in the first five innings and then waited to a 9-3 win over the Strouds.

The Strouds trailing from the open opening inning as Lake Harmony hopped on first Larry Raph and then Al Shoch and Harold Jacobson before Manager Frank Radler came on to put out the fire in the last four frames.

Roth Shuckles Denny Roth limited the Strouds to six hits—two of them by Radler—and struck out seven. He walked only three.

Lake Harmony's Radler, Warner and Smith paced a 17-hit ambush on the Stroud hurlers with three ing well, also blasted a homer to safeties apiece. Roth, besides hurling his own cause.

Losing Race Sparked Bowden To 3:58.7 U. S. Mile Mark

STOCKTON, Calif., June 2 (U)—A losing race gave long-striding Californian Don Bowden the confidence he needed to become the first American to run the mile in less than four minutes.

Three weeks ago in the West Coast Relays at Fresno, the six-foot, three-inch junior from the University of California traveled the anchor leg of a distance medley relay in 4:02.8 although nipped in the stretch by Jerome Walters of Los Angeles.

Gallant Man Gives Notice To 'Watch Out'

The Associated Press
GALLANT MAN, beaten a nose in two of the year's richest races including the Kentucky Derby, has served notice he is ready for another crack at the big shots in the turf's 3-year-old division. He gave his notice emphatically Saturday with a 2 1/2 length victory in the $28,150 Peter Pan Handicap at Belmont Park.

This means the little Irish-bred colt from Ralph Lowe's Midland, Tex., stable will get his chance to compete in the mile and one-half of the $100,000-added Belmont Stakes June 15.

The distance should be right down the alley for the fast-closing son of Migoli, who dropped a nose decision to Bold Ruler, the Prekness winner, in the Wood Memorial and failed by a like margin to catch Iron Liege in the Derby when jockey Willie Shoemaker misjudged the finish.

Ruler Ready
Bold Ruler will be on hand to accept the challenge in the Belmont. But Iron Liege's presence is doubtful. The Calumet Farm ace has been nursing a sore leg since winning the Jersey Stakes 10 days ago.

If trainer Jimmy Jones isn't able to get Iron Liege in shape, then Calumet's once powerful 3-year-old contingent will be down to Baribizon. And the manner in which Baribizon ran in Saturday's Kent Stakes at Delaware Park shouldn't cause either Bold Ruler or Gallant Man to lose sleep. He finished eighth in a 10-horse field.

Gen. Duke, Calumet's big gun in the winter races, still is sidelined with a bad foot.

Baribizon, 1956 juvenile champion, set the pace in the mile and one-sixteenth of the $35,300 Kent until a half-mile from home. Then he faded badly under top weight of 126 pounds as the French-bred Lucky Dip from Harry F. Guggenheim's Cain Hoy Stable came up for a 1 1/2-length victory over Inswep with a 1:41 3/5 clocking.

No Trouble is Beyond Help

Most of us have heard these words of hope: "Man's extremity is God's opportunity."

Christian Science shows how to make this come true in time of need. Thoughtful reading of the Christian Science textbook.

SCIENCE AND HEALTH
with Key to the Scriptures
by Mary Baker Eddy

— beginning with the first chapter on "Prayer" — has shown thousands how to avail themselves of God's help. It matters not how long or how urgent may be the need. God can do what mankind cannot.

You may read, borrow or purchase Science and Health at any Christian Science Reading Room, or send $3 and a copy will be mailed postpaid.
